What the exhibitors have to say

Guo Zhenqiang, General Manager of Guangdong Baldor-tech Co., Ltd.

This is the fourth time in succession for me to attend the international compressor gathering. It is of the great importance that B&D joins in the event with the latest IoT-based air compressors as the first IoT + manufacturer accredited by the People's Government of Guangdong Province. The company has insisted on making energy-saving and intelligent air compressors since 2012. It is a difficult way to go. But the company has harvested a lot with years' efforts. The company has made breakthroughs in multiple patents in air compressor's intelligent system. During this ComVac ASIA, I saw many peers actively displayed their new technologies of air compressors, including new marketing modes. It is a good sign. Only with such spirits to create can our national industry grow for a long time, and compete with foreign brands in the world.
